ACTIVISTS TAKE TO THE HIGHWAY

Since the 2019 Bushfires first revealed the Grantville Grass Tree Forest, the future of remnant vegetation across the Bass hinterland has been a hot topic locally and in Spring Street.

Now, an application by Dandy Premix to expand sandmining operations at its Grantville site has been 'called in' by Planning Minister Richard Wynne and will be heard by a planning panel in March.

The panel will have to balance the need for raw materials for the State's building-led recovery against the preservation of bio-links, remnant vegetation and habitat.

The current pit is within the red line to the left of the map. The red circled area to the right is the proposed new extraction site which would breach the last wildlife corridor linking the Gurdies and Grantville Reserves, according to local activists.

Late last month, protestors signposted the Bass Highway to alert people about the dangers to local remnant woodlands and wildlife. The signs were later removed by persons unknown.

The Waterline News is produced on the lands of the Bunurong, Boon-wurrung, members of the Kulin Nation who have lived here for thousands of years. We offer our respect to Elders, past, present and emerging and through them, all First Nations People.

Welcome to your January 2021, on-line, edition of the Waterline News.

It was certainly great to be able bring our families together over the last couple of weeks and, on the whole, the weather was pretty kind to us.

It's unusual for the Waterline to be published in January. We hope that the information contained in this truncated version is helpful.

The best advice I can pass on is to remember the basics. Sanitize, distance, mask up when appropriate, get tested at the earliest/slightest symptom and follow the instructions of the authorities.

Salutations

A Bass Coast Spokesperson has confirmed that Council is constructing a shared pathway to connect Bass Valley Primary School to Corinella via Tenby Point. Council officers are currently progressing a tender for the works and the Guy Road shared pathway project is expected to commence construction in the 2020/21 financial year. Council has completed designs for the 5.9km path, from Jamieson Street in Corinella along Guy Road via Tenby Point and then unused road reserve to Corinella Road and Bass Valley Primary School. The shared path is one of Council's top three pathways in its Aspirational Pathway Program and has been a key advocacy priority. The path will provide both recreational and active transport options for residents and visitors looking to experience the Waterline area through walking, running and cycling.

Marion Munroe and Barbara Oates, at the opening of Corinella Multi Courts

Bass Coast's multisport court facility in Corinella is ready to play.

The new facility at Corinella is located with Harold Hughes Reserve and follows Council's adoption of the Harold Hughes Reserve Master Plan.

The project includes a tennis court, with an acrylic playing surface which meets Tennis Victoria's guidelines, a multi-purpose court, which includes a netball and basketball ring, soccer goals and is line marked for an additional tennis court, as well as new fencing and lighting.

In addition, Grantville Recreation Reserve is also undergoing a significant upgrade, with the construction of a new tennis court and a multi-purpose court, as well as new fencing and lighting.

Celebrated Street Artist Jimmy Dvate has created a major artwork in Bass Coast. Jimmy touched down in the Wonthaggi IGA car park to translate his design, incorporating frequently seen birds in the area, on the wall of Connell's Bakery. Jimmy's birds can be seen from hundreds of metres away and provide a focal point for the community and visitors alike. Bass Coast Shire Council Mayor, Cr Brett Tessari, said that Bass Coast is very fortunate that Jimmy – who has strong connections to the region – was able to find a window of opportunity for this fantastic piece of art.

Street Art brightens Wonthaggi

Bass Coast Shire Council is disappointed with the lack of meaningful rates reform from the State Government following its recent Rating Strategy Review. The State Government released its final report on 21 December.

Disappointing response to rating review

In 2019, Council made a submission to the review and Council's CEO Ali Wastie was a member of the Municipal Association of Victoria's taskforce that also made a submission.

Ms Wastie said the current COVID-19 environment reduced the Government's appetite to reform the current rating system.

"The Review failed to address the inequity faced by declared tourist destinations like Bass Coast, which experience significant visitation and need to build and maintain additional infrastructure and facilities without a financial contribution from the tourists and day trippers."

Robots were introduced to the world. Karel Čapek's popular science-fiction play R.U.R. premiered in Prague in Czechoslovakia.

R.U.R. stood for "Rossumovi Univerzální Roboti", the name of the company, described in the opening exposition as having been created by Dr. Rossum to build artificial servants.

In 1920 Airship R-34 became the first aircraft to cross the Atlantic Ocean. On 27 January 1921 R.34 set off on what should have been a routine exercise. Over the North Sea the weather worsened and a recall signal sent by radio was not received. Following a navigational error the craft flew into a hillside on the North Yorkshire Moors during the night, and the ship lost two propellers. It went back out to sea using the two remaining engines. In daylight it followed the Humber Estuary back to Howden. Strong winds made it impossible to get it back into the shed so it was tied down outside for the night. By the morning further damage had occurred. R.34 was scrapped.

These two very easy recipes should help with the nibbles. The dip is a favourite of mine because it's so simple and tastes great. The chickpea nibbles go down well with everyone because they are not too spicy. They are actually quite good for you! I sometimes snack on them during the day.

FETA & MINT DIP Ingredients 150 grams of feta cheese. 115 grams of sour cream. 1½ teaspoons of toasted fennel seeds lightly crushed (optional). 1 tablespoon of sliced mint leaves. 1 tablespoon of finely chopped chives. The juice of 1 small lemon. Salt and pepper

Method

Put the feta and cream into bowl and mash.

Add seeds if using, mint, chives and lemon juice and season.

Stir with fork till well mixed.

Cover and refrigerate for 3-4 hours before serving with a couple of mint leaves on top.

CHICKPEA & ALMOND NIBBLES

Ingredients 420 gram can of chickpeas drained and rinsed with cold water. 150 grams of almonds or a mixture of almonds and halved walnuts. 2 tablespoons of vegetable oil. 2 teaspoons of smoked paprika. 1 teaspoon of curry powder. ½ - 1 teaspoon of salt (to taste). 3 teaspoons of honey. 2 teaspoons of dried oregano.

Method : Heat oven to 180 degrees, line a baking tray with baking paper.

Dry chickpeas well with a clean tea towel or paper towels.

Mix with the whole almonds and walnuts if using.

Add half of the oil and toss well.

Sprinkle over paprika, curry powder and half of the salt.

Toss well and transfer to the prepared baking tray. Bake for 45 minutes tossing lightly every 15 minutes.

Cool a little and put into a large bowl.

Stir in the honey and remaining oil and oregano and toss to coat.

Return to the tray, sprinkle with remaining salt and cook for 10-15 mins until golden and crisp. Enjoy!

The Argus, 19 May 1887, Kilcunda and Bass Mail Service.

Mr. L. L. Smith, M.L.A., yesterday drew the attention of the Postmaster General to the complaint of the residents of Kilcunda and Bass, that the letters addressed from the former to the latter township, although it is only four miles from Kilcunda, have to be sent to Melbourne before they can be forwarded to Bass. Mr. Derham said that he would see what could be done during the next fortnight to effect some alteration in this condition of affairs.

Motoring Tips

Take your time.
Don't leave everything to the last minute.
Most angry people get angry because they are under time pressure.
So start with a plan.
Leave with plenty of time to spare.
Remember you can always use your phone for 10 minutes if you arrive early.

Leave a gap
Gaps in traffic are your braking zones for safe trips. One way to cut aggression is to avoid tailgating and don't stress if someone is doing it to you. Closing the gap won't make them drive faster and if you are being tailgated the best tactic is to ignore it. Just concentrate on the road ahead and blank them out.

Kill the phone.

Nothing is more distracting on the road. Sure, we all love our phones and keeping in touch, but is a Facebook post or a text worth a life?

It's a distraction that you don't need, and there are new fines, penalties and detection methods coming in across Australia.

If you really struggle to disconnect, throw your phone on the back seat or the boot.

Health

IN AN EMERGENCY CALL 000

SNAKE BITE

As the warmer weather approaches, so does our snake population and we all need to be aware around rubbish and long grass.

Gippsland has approximately six different species of snakes:

Eastern Tiger Snake

(Highly Venomous)

Red Bellied Black Snake

(Highly Venomous)

Brown Snake

(Highly Venomous)

Lowlands Copper Head

(Highly Venomous)

White Lipped Snake

(Mildly Venomous)

Bandy Bandy Snake

(Mildly Venomous)

Most people keep their distance from snakes out of respect and snakes will probably only bite if you block their escape or disturb their habitat.

If you are unfortunately bitten, DO NOT run for help, lay still and summon help, Call 000 and ask for ambulance.

First Aid treatment for Snake Bite

Correct first aid treatment for snake bite is known as the pressure immobilization method. It works by limiting the spread of venom throughout the body.

Start by placing a small gauze dressing over the puncture/bite marks, this allows any venom that is left on the skin near the bite to be collected and tested by the hospital, this enables the most appropriate anti-venom to be given.

Place a broad crepe bandage over the affected area usually an arm or leg, roll the bandage around the limb overlapping as you roll up the full length of the limb towards the heart.

DON'T remove the bandage until the patient gets to hospital.

History

The Grantville Drive In opened in the early 1970s and closed in 1984.

Shrouded by trees, the screen is the last visible remnant of Grantville's "picture-paddock", which had room for 150 cars when it opened.

Locals who knew the operators, Wally and Margaret Beer, now sadly passed on, say they were told the framework was part of an old State Electricity Commission (SEC) transmission Tower.

The better brick home where Wally and Margaret Beer lived still stands amongst the new homes in the developed estate.

Local historian, Libby Skidmore, vividly remembers the Drive-In, albeit if only as a "paddock with posts"

Libby remembers going one night to watch Clark Gable and Vivien Leigh light up the screen in Gone With The Wind, but says the venue didn't leave a lasting impression in her mind.

Looking back she says, "It wasn't all that flash - kind of scruffy actually. The sound was terrible and the colour on the screen was also strange".

She also said "The Drive-in always exuded a temporary, make shift vibe".

The Grantville Drive-in screen was actually advertised on Ebay in 2015 for $500, buyer to pick up.

The Grantville & District Ratepayers and Residents Association looked at the cost of dismantling the screen, storing it and re-assembling it at the Recreation Reserve as an outdoor theatre.

The cost of close to $100,000 put the project beyond the realms of possibility.

The ebay listing said "The mammoth structure which still stands at the edge of the housing estate would make a great billboard".

The ebay auction failed to attract a buyer and the screen still stands, its future still to be determined. Some say it is unfortunate that heritage registers fail to recognise the social significance of the state's beloved Drive In theatres, especially to those of us who grew up in the 1950s, 60s and 70s.

Remembrance Day 2020

Bass Coast & District Friends of the RSL celebrated Remembrance Day 2020 with a Community Gathering at the Memorial Wall in Grantville.

Present were Hon. Russell Broadbent Federal Member for Monash, a Representative from State MP, Jordon Crugnale, Cr Bruce Kent, and Cr Clare Le Serve.

Mr Wayne Machette was a guest speaker, Ilse McDonald said a prayer and Colin McKenzie, AKA Tex, did the Ode and played the Last Post.

Wreaths were laid on behalf of Hon Russell Broadbent, Jordan Crugnale, Bass Coast Shire Council, Grantville Bendigo Bank, Bass Valley Friends of the RSL, Corinella Community Centre, Corinella Ratepayers Association, Red Cross, Young Veterans and by family members.
